

Dear Shareholders,

As you know by now, the past 30 days have been busy ones for GPA. We are all settling into our new futures here. After the resignations of four of our executive team and two of our middle-management, we are a small yet powerful group of seven full time employees, four part-time workers, 25 part-time teachers, 12 part-time curriculum developers, and five channel partners.

Although we continue to work in the international space, our renewed focus is on small and medium US school districts who are just getting their feet wet in the online and blended worlds. We are pursuing first-time buyers who are looking for an affordable, economic way to deliver online learning to their students. Our product line is priced for the entry-level customer on a tight budget who, simultaneously, needs and wants high quality service and support.

We are preparing for our one major industry conference, iNACOL, where we will have a booth and presentations at the end of the month. We expect a high yield from the conference this year and will likely see the results begin to reach fruition in May. Don't forget that we are seasonal business where buying occurs in May-August, for the most part.

Since we no longer are required to file SEC reports or post on the OTC website, I will post a monthly update here on our website for shareholders so please keep an eye out for our news as we look forward to our future.

Take care,
Pam
